

Department: Life Sciences

Job title: Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in Mental Health Nursing, Full time

Salary: £40,580 to £53,218 pa inclusive of London Weighting Allowance

We are looking for two Mental Health Nursing Lecturer/Senior Lecturers to join our new nursing education team in the Department of Life Sciences. This is an exciting opportunity to be a key part of establishing a new nursing provision in south-west London. You will have the opportunity to shape the curriculum, develop stakeholder partnerships and provide an excellent student experience.

We are seeking applications from experienced and highly motivated candidates who have a strong track record in mental health nursing practice and education. This innovative nursing programme has a community nursing focus, so expertise and experience in this area is highly desirable.

At Roehampton, we change lives by helping our students to develop the confidence, knowledge and adaptability they need for a successful graduate career and fulfilling life.

We are a supportive, close-knit and inclusive community, with a proud history in higher education stretching back more than 175 years. Our values come from this rich history, built on community, engagement and partnership, with a belief that no matter their background, we can help our students realise their ambitions. Our graduates today have excellent employment prospects, and are part of a thriving global community of Roehampton alumni.

We provide an engaging portfolio of courses across the creative arts, social sciences, law, humanities, literature, education, business, and human and life sciences, including nursing. We also have an excellent research profile. With international reach, our research informs policy, enriches culture and improves people's lives.

We are based on a beautiful 64-acre parkland campus, located in the heart of south-west London. Our staff have access to excellent facilities and a generous range of staff benefits.

To find out more information about the role and what we're looking for, visit the Working at Roehampton section of our website where you will find full details, how to apply, as well as further information about the benefits of working for us. Alternatively, you can email the Head of Nurse Education, Paul Newcombe on paul.newcombe@roehampton.ac.uk
